Use the same username (your email) and password you use when you are accessing our research.

For the time being, you will be presented with a second login screen for the forums. No, we cannot yet have this be a single sign on. That will have to wait for when we redo the web site later in 2012.

We strongly recommend you use the same email address and password you use to access the research on our site. Choose any username you like, that’s how you will be identified on the BSR Forums. Make sure you check the “I agree to the terms of service” box and fill in the “Captcha” box.

You are now ready to go.

Please read the Forum Rules first as, according to the Terms and Conditions for using our service, you are responsible for following these rules.

We’ve set up boards for all our covered companies already along with a few other discussion areas.

Lost Forum Password

If you've lost your login information to the BSR Forums, retrieving it is easy.

Sign In

The 'Sign In' form contains the following elements:

- An 'Email' label above a text input field.
- A 'Password' label above a text input field.
- A 'Forgot?' link in blue text to the right of the password field, circled in red.
- A 'Sign In' button in a grey box.
- A checkbox labeled 'Keep me signed in'.
- A link 'Don't have an account? Create One.' at the bottom.

Just click the “Forgot?” link and follow the instructions to have it sent to you.

If you have trouble getting past the BSR login:

The 'Login' form has a dark grey background and includes the following elements:

- A green header with the word 'Login' in white.
- The instruction 'Please login to access protected content.'
- A 'Username:' label above a text input field.
- A 'Password:' label above a text input field.
- 'Log In' and 'Reset' buttons in grey boxes.
- A 'Forgot your Password?' link in white text below the buttons, circled in red.

Click the “Forgot Your Password” link and enter your email address into the form there (depending on your browser you may have to scroll up a bit).
